THE PITTSYLVANIA MURDER.-We recently announced the murder of Mr. Joseph E. Anderson, the father of Senator Anderson of Pittsylvania. He had for several years slept at night in his store. The assassin crushed in his skull with a club, which was afterwards found with blood and hair on it. The murder, H. of R. of course caused great excitement in Pittsylvania county, and every effort was made to discover the perpetrator.

The authorities were aided in obtaining a clue to the murderer by Internal Revenue Detective Cole. During the examination be-fore the coroner, James M. Conway, son inlaw of deceased, asked Detective Cole, if he thought that the murderer of Mr. Anderson could be discovered. Cole, who had already been impressed with the belief that Conway was the guilty party, looked him directly in the eye and replied, in effect, "I know now who killed him!" Cole reported this interview to the sheriff and others, and expressed to them his belief that Conway was the murderer. The result was that Conway was arrested, and committed to Pittsylvania county jail, where he made a full confession of the horrible

Among the circumstances which strengthened the suspicions against Conway before his arrest was the fact that he had borrowed a considerable sum of money from his father-inlaw, and afterwards "took the benefit of the wish to save them to call on him, knowing that hankrupt act," in consequence of which Mr. Anderson had stated his intention to make per treatment might be preserved and made per treatment might be preserved and made useful for life. Artificial teeth inserted only

DICKENS'S DOMESTIC LIFE. - A writer in the Chicago Advance gives these among other personal details about Charles Dickens: -

"The ugliest feature in his life is his treatment of his wife. Mr. Wells, his business partner and most intimate friend, told me last year that it was the one unpardonable act that could neither be explained nor forgiven. The causes of the separation are perfectly well known. Miss Hogarth, own sister of Mrs. Dickens, who had always lived in the family from the time of the marriage, was too much the favorite of the head. For years this was the subject of discord until it ended in separation, Mrs. Dickens re moving to Gloucester Crescent, London, while Miss Hogarth remained at Gads' Hill to the last. No charge of a criminal aspect was ever made. Dickens paid his wife £200 a year. The children, of whom eight are living, went at their option from one house to the other, the sons mostly residing at their mother's house, the daughters with their lather. A correspondence was kept up between husband and wife, and Miss Hogarth frequently saw her sister at her own (Mrs. Dickens's) house. It was the re fusal of Bradbury & Evans to publish Dickens's 'statement' in the columns of Punch that caused the quarrel ending by his withdrawal from Household Words and commencing All the Year Round. Although Charles Dickens, Jr., married Miss Evans, the seniors never atter the outbreak spoke to each other.

STOCK GAMBLING ON THE NEWS .- The European bulletins for several days past have been an endless source of perplexity, nobody being able to make up his mind whether peace or war was to be the grand finale. A New York letter says : -

"It is just this sort of uncertainty, however, that suits the speculators in the Gold Room and the Stock Exchange, and they are improving their opportunities accordingly, though the "outside public," as a general thing, keep away from the pool. As an illustration of the shrewdness and boldness which characterize these speculations in times like these, the fact may be mentioned that $2,500 was paid, day before yesterday, for the single quotation of French rentes (the first that came over the cable,) showing a recovery of 3 per cent. The puchaser sold gold short, and then bought bonds for a rise, and the net profits of the trans action are said to have been $100,000. When the dispatch was received gold was selling at 1144, two hours later it was down to 1121. Instances of this kind of luck, however, are rare, and even in this case the fortunate operator, as likely as not, will venture in again and lose everything he has made, by an unlucky turn, before Saturday night. Is it any wonder that men who thus gamble so extensively in money, not unfrequently die of paralysis, appolexy and brain fever.'

DISCROWNED MONARCHS. - By her recent act of abdication, Queen Isabella of Spain formally joins the cohort of discrowned monarchs who are rapidly journeying towards oblivion. The ex-Queen can find scattered about Europe a small army of ex monarchs, who think themselves as badly treated as she probably claims herself to be. There is the ex King of Naples, with his beautiful and spirited young wife; there is the poor, blind old King of Hanover, for whom it is impossible not to feel some sympathy; there is the family of Otto, the Bavarian King of Greece, who look upon the young King George as a usurper; there are the various claimants to the French throne; and there are the dispossessed princelings of Italy and Germany-the former rulers of Parma and Modena and Tuscany, and the elector of Cassel. Altogether these uncrowned mon archs and their descendants form a singular phase of European society. They have all their adherents, and they all cling to hopes of restoration.

THE PERSIMMON TREE. - This favorite tree that flourishes in so many portions of Virginia, and whose fruit is reckoned the staple of several counties that it would be invidious to name, is said to be capable of great improvement. Tilton's Journal of Horticulture quotes from an ern Pomologist, in which it is stated that the Persimmon is very bardy in the west persimmon is very bardy in the control of the west that the BEDFORD WATER. persimmon is very hardy in the vincinity of Cleveland, Ohio. The Doctor says: trees were taised from seed planted in 1841. They began to bear fruit in seven years. The tree is directions, and at least three out of every four are barren or staminate. The fruits of no two are alike in size, form, flavor and time of ed the NUNS' SKIRT, the intest and best thing out. Also skirts for large ladies made to of March. The system becomes deranged, the Physical and Mental Functions weakened.—Loss of Procreative Power, Nervous Irritability, Dyspepsia, Palpitation of the Heart, Indigestion. YOUNG MEN Who have injured themselves by a certain practice, already described, a habit frequently learned from evil companions or at school, the effects of which are nightly felt, even when asleep, and if not cured, renders marriage impossible, and destroys both mind

Indeed, without these the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage, the prospect hourly darkens to the view, the mind becomes shadowed with despair, and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happi-ness of another is blighted with our own.

DISEASE OF IMPRUDENCE.

When the misguided and imprudent votary of pleasure finds that he has imbibed the seeds of this painful disease, it too often happens that an ill-imed sense of shame or dread of discovery deters him from applying to those who, from education and respectability, can alone betriend him, delaying till the constitutional symptoms of this horrid disease make their appearance, such as ulcerated sore throat, diseased nose nocturnal pains in the head and limbs, dimness of sight, deafness, nodes or the shin bones and arms, blotches on the head, the shin bones and arms, blotches on the head, face and extremities, progressing with frightful rapidity, till at last the palate of the mouth or the bones of the nose fall in, and the victim of this awful disease becomes a horrid object of commiseration till death puts a period to his dreadful antifering by according him to the his dreadful suffering, by sending him to that undiscovered country "from whence no travel-ler returns."

It is a melancholy fact that thousands DIE victims to this terrible disease, through falling icto the hands of ignorant or unskilful PRE-TENDER-, who, by the use of that deadly Poison, Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and incapable of curing, keep the unhappy suf-ferer month after month taking their noxious or injurious compounds, and instead of being restored to a renewal of Life. Vigor and Happiness, in despair leave him with ruined Hearth to sigh over his galling disappointment.
